Did You know...

When Sylvan Goldman, owner of a supermarket chain in Oklahoma City, created the world's first shopping trolley in 1937, the response from women was, to put it mildly, unfavorable. They thought they looked ridiculous when they walked around the shopping with the cart. Goldman, convinced of the success of his invention, hired models to use trolleys in stores. As a result, they quickly gained popularity, and Goldman became a multi-millionaire.

MILO

Did You know...

Have you ever wondered how many teeth do the bottle caps have? Their number is regulated by the German standard DIN6099, according to which the optimal cap, adapted to the circumference of the neck of the bottle, is one with exactly 21 teeth. There are of course exceptions to every rule - some Belgian beers have 22-tooth caps. If the cap on your bottle has 24 or even 29 teeth - you don't need an opener - it's a twist-off cap for sure.

Did You know...

In 2011, company named Zweibruder Optoelectronics set a new Guinness World Record at the world-famous Solingen Festival of Lights in Germany . It presented the largest flashlight in history, measuring as much as 4 meters. The LED bulbs placed in it can last up to 100,000 hours, which translates into about 11 years of uninterrupted light. The main goal, apart from breaking the record of course, was to draw attention to the problem of energy saving.

TIMES

Did You know...

The inspiration for the invention of reflectives were ... the eyes of a cat. One night, Percy Shaw noticed the lights of his car reflected in the eyes of a cat by the road. He realized that thanks to this he did not go down into the ditch and avoided an accident. Thanks to this event, in 1934 he patented his invention called the 'cat's eye'.
